(Balance disc and mat not included)

Redcord Professional Workstation

The Professional Workstation installs from overhead ceiling structure and provides a “zero footprint” installation to allow flexible usage of the space below the unit. The Professional Workstation provides for variable fore/aft positioning of the Redcord apparatus and additional suspension points particularly suited for advanced offloading techniques.

Wall-Mounted Professional Workstation

The wall-mounted Professional Workstation has the same functionality as the ceiling mounted Professional Workstation but must be installed along a structural wall and is supported by legs that rest on the floor. This installation does not require any attachment to the ceiling.

Cable-to-Ceiling Professional WorkStation & FEX3 Group Training Center

Similar to the wall-mounted Professional Workstation, the cable mounted workstation attaches to the wall but substitutes a cable attachment to the ceiling in place of the legs. This eliminates the permanent footprint associated with the legs and keeps the floor space beneath the workstation free for flexible use. The cables must be attached securely to overhead structure in the ceiling (or alternatively back to the wall at a 45deg angle). Cable length can accommodate any ceiling height.

This station can also be supplied with an expansion kit that allows the unit to be adapted to an ActivCore FEX3 Group Training Center. Three individuals can conduct simultaneous single apparatus ActivCore exercises on each leg of the rectangle. The unit extends 94" from the wall and spans 80" of wall space.

Wall Mounted Activation Station

This wall mounted version of the Activation Station eliminates the permanent footprint associated with the free standing unit and keeps the floor space beneath the Activation Station free. The Wall Mounted Activation station can also be attached over a Pilates Tower (seen in the photo).
